

The 6th Macao International Design Exhibition

2019-Golden Lotus International Design Competition for Students

In the context of the Macao government's vigorous promotion of the cultural and creative industry, the 2019-Golden Lotus International Design Competition for Students is one of the most influential design competition for college students in the Asia-Pacific region, one of which is an important part in the 6th Macao International Design Exhibition, which is hosted by the Union for International Design of Macao. The competition has attracted the attention of design colleges and industries in mainland China, Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan as well as Portuguese-speaking countries, providing international academic exchange platform for college students and improving their design level.

The competition is open to students from all over the world, collecting works in Architecture(including landscape), Interior Design and Soft decoration(including product design). After professional evaluation by the organizing committee, awards will be given on the scene of 2019-Golden Lotus International Design Competition for Students Award Ceremony. And there will be nearly a thousand professional designers, architects, artists, business representatives and other people in person to witness the glory of the moment. The winning entries will have the opportunity to participate in the Macao International Design Exhibition to enhance the international visibility and influence of the participants.
